

INDIAN PLAYED
IN HARD LUCKKilled Himself While White Man
Was Trying to Shoot Him.

TRAGEDY IN SOUTHERN UTAH

EXPLANATION OF WHITE MAN IS BELIEVED.

(Special to The Herald.)
PRICE, Utah, Oct. 1.—Charles Reeder, an Indian trader with the Ourays and White River Utes, is the white man in jail at Moab and arrested by Sheriff Taylor of Grand county for killing Billy Charley, sixty miles below Ouray agency last Wednesday. An inquiry into the case by Sheriff Preece of Uintah county and County Attorney Corbin of Grand county brings out the fact that Reeder had previously had some trouble with Billy Charley and when they met away from civilization the trouble was renewed, the two drew their six shooters and each snapped his gun at the other without either firing. This circumstance is accounted for by the fact that the weapons carried only blank cartridges. After each man's gun failed to fire, the two clinched. In an effort to kill Reeder the Indian's gun went off after they had clinched and he practically committed suicide.

This is the version of County Attorney Corbin of Grand county.

Captain Hill, United States Marshal at Moab, was called to the scene and asked what he wanted done. That gentleman replied that the matter was entirely up to the civil authorities.

Billy Charley was buried where he fell. The medicine men at Ouray and Chief Tally of the Ourays have been wired through an interpreter to go to the grave of Billy Charley and perform the last rites according to Indian customs. They are to be accompanied by an interpreter and will be met at the grave by Sheriff Preece and others on the sheriff's way back from Thompson's to Vernal. The usual explanation will be made by the interpreter to the Indians through the interpreter. Reeder will be released from the Moab jail at once as the county attorney already finds that no crime has been committed.

Wreck on the Northern Pacific in Washington.

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 1.—As a result of a broken rail in the track, Northern Pacific train No. 2, west-bound, was derailed this morning at a point between West of Maywood, and midway between that station and a small station known as Canton. The train was composed of the engine, a passenger car, a mail car, and a baggage car. The engine, a mail car, and a baggage car were derailed, but the passenger car remained on the track.

As a result of the wreck four persons were slightly injured. Engineer J. H. Hubbard of Tacoma jumped and sustained a broken ankle. Fireman A. E. Knudsen of Tacoma jumped and sustained a broken ankle. ## WOLFE STILL IN CITY.

So Say Littermen of Man Who Eloped
With Lizzie Davis.

Augustus Wolfe, a married man, who eloped with 15-year-old Lizzie Davis of Los Angeles last week, and who afterward fled with her to Salt Lake, is said by members of local No. 3, Littermen's union, to be still in this city. Wolfe, who has acted as a professional strike breaker for various telephone companies, attempted under the name of Taylor to obtain work here less than two weeks ago, but upon being denounced by a fellow litterman, who knew that he was traveling under an assumed name, he fled. Wolfe is said to have started out to work.

That Wolfe did not leave town, however, but decided to remain with his child spouse, is certain for he was seen only a few days ago by a litterman in the employ of the Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone company. The police are yet without any definite information. As Wolfe is guilty under the state laws of California of felony, the Los Angeles authorities and the girl's relatives are anxious that he should be apprehended.

UNION DID NOT RESULT AS EXPECTED

Leadville, Colo., Oct. 1.—The injunction which was issued by Judge Owen to restrain the so-called Mine Owners' union from discriminating against the Western Federation of Miners in the force and effect today, but to all outward appearances has had no visible effect. About 2,000 cards have already been issued, and as the crews on all the large mines are called to work, the union is as usual. In fact it was stated at the office of the mining association that in no case did men appear for work without a card.

BEREFT OF $55,000

The jury found that Sutton was not in his right mind when he made the will. The will was contested by the deceased's brother. Counsel for Dowie announced that an appeal would be taken.

SEATTLE CUT OUT
BY FAIRBANKSCandidate Taken to the Smaller
Washington Cities.

BOOMING HIMSELF FOR 1908

DOLLIVER TALKED TARIFF AT OLYMPIA.

Olympia, Wash., Oct. 1.—At this point, the capital of the state, Senator Fairbanks made the first stop of the day. In order to come here and to visit some of the places mentioned by the state committee to be desirable, it was necessary to change the entire programme for the day as originally designed by the national committee. This change resulted in entirely cutting out the cities of Seattle and Everett and the substitution of Olympia, Centralia, Chehalis, Napavine, Winlock, Castle Rock, Kelso and Kalama, all in the southwestern corner of the state. Reports from Seattle indicate dissatisfaction with the change, but Senator Fairbanks has explained to those who have approached him that the change was made without consulting him. The special train pulled out of Tacoma before 3 o'clock in the morning and the run was made in about an hour's time, bringing the party into Olympia for the meeting at 9. At that hour the city was enveloped in a dense fog, but it was not sufficient to keep the crowd away or to depress the speakers. They were cordially received and their speeches liberally applauded.

Senator Dolliver discussed the tariff again, giving his special attention to the lumber schedule. Senator Fairbanks was again introduced as the probable presidential candidate of 1908. The presiding officer declared that this was "not prophetic" but foreordained. Senator Dolliver also discussed Judge Parker's charge of extravagance against the Republican party, and said in reply that the president is not responsible for appropriations, but that congress is, and that the Democratic members of that body are equally responsible as Republican members, as some of them had been known to vote against an appropriation bill. He predicted a great future for the commerce of the Pacific ocean, and said that the continuation of Republican policies is necessary to its protection.

Senator Fulton of Oregon joined the party at Tacoma and will continue with it until California is reached.

STOOD UPON A STUMP.

Senator Fairbanks Speaks From Platform
Erected For McKinley.

Chehalis, Wash., Oct. 1.—In mounting the big stump at this point, Senator Fairbanks made reference to it, saying that there was no better platform to speak from than the McKinley platform. The McKinley platform was noted for its solidity, the senator continued, and then prepared to deliver an eulogy upon McKinley. The stump erected for President McKinley during his tour in 1900, but was not occupied by him owing to the fact that Mrs. McKinley died. The stump was returned from San Francisco. Senator Fairbanks referred to this circumstance, and said that it was fittingly used in his eulogy of the late president in office, President Roosevelt.

ACTOR JOE JEFFERSON
QUITS THE STAGE

New York, Oct. 1.—Joseph Jefferson, after more than seventy years on the stage, during which time he has become one of the most honored and beloved members of the dramatic profession, has decided abruptly never to resume his theatrical career. Sorrow was expressed by all who had heard the announcement.

Mr. Jefferson arrived here from Boston, where he had rested a few days, recuperating from his recent illness at Buzzards Bay, which caused the abandonment of his fall tour. He is convalescent, but still must be judicious in guarding his returning strength and will remain here three weeks, before he will be able to resume his theatrical career. He is now in the employ of the Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone company. The police are yet without any definite information. As Wolfe is guilty under the state laws of California of felony, the Los Angeles authorities and the girl's relatives are anxious that he should be apprehended.

It is a copy of this plan that is reported to have reached Russia.

Wild Rush of Water.

Albuquerque, N. M., Oct. 1.—The wild sweep of water, raising the Rio Grande to the highest point for more than a year, has enveloped in a dense fog, but it was not sufficient to keep the crowd away or to depress the speakers. They were cordially received and their speeches liberally applauded.

Telephone reports from Proctors, nine miles west of Lamar, show that the water there is at the highest stage known in thirty years. The entire Proctors ranch is under water and the residents were compelled to seek safety on the tops of their houses.

No trains are running. Floods so late in the season have never before been known.

DEATH SEEMS AT HAND

Postmaster General Payne Unconscious
For Hours at a Time.

Washington, Oct. 1.—Postmaster General Payne's life tonight hangs in the balance. He has been unable to maintain the improvement over last night noted in the early morning bulletin. Late in the afternoon he had a sinking spell and failed to rally as quickly as he had on previous occasions. Although he is not so well he began to respond to treatment and an hour later he was able to rest quietly. He is now in a precarious condition, but his condition is grave in the extreme as evidenced by the fact that the members of the family kept closely watching him throughout the evening. Mrs. Payne and Grayson were constantly in attendance.

HOW MUCH WILL IT COST
TO CALL A WOMAN A "FAT SLOB?"

Does the word slob constitute an offense against the laws of the state of Utah or is it merely a sin against the English language?

Mrs. Susan and Lizzie Atkinson, who live at 223 West Sixth street, appeared before Judge Diehl yesterday, charged with calling Mrs. J. W. Bush and Mrs. James Vincent fat slob.

From the evidence introduced by the defense it appears that the sisters jointly and collectively spoke in loud measures of Mrs. Vincent as a "fat slob." The complaint charges them with using slanderous, profane, abusive and indecent language towards Mrs. Bush and Vincent, and the court, after hearing the evidence stated that it would take until next Wednesday to decide whether the word "slob" constituted an offense against the laws of Utah.

From the testimony it appears that the sisters made their complaint on the morning of the 29th, and that the complaint was made in the presence of the judge. The judge stated that he would take until next Wednesday to decide whether the word "slob" constituted an offense against the laws of Utah.

COUNTY CLERK AIDS
THE HEINZE BOLTERS

Butte, Mont., Oct. 1.—Deputy Marshal Crutcher of Helena arrived here today with a writ of mandamus from the Montana supreme court, to be served on John Weston, clerk of Silver Bow county. James W. Riley of Butte yesterday applied in the court in Helena in the name of the regular county Democratic ticket, asking that Weston be called on to show cause why he should not put upon the official ballot the names of the candidates of the regular Democratic party of this county. Weston says that as there are two Democratic tickets, the Heinze adherents having bolted, he is unable to decide which is entitled to go on the ballot under the head of "Democratic," and he, too, is anxious to have the supreme court decide the question. Assistant Justice Milburn will take up the writ Monday.

HERRICK STANDS FOR REFORM
W. S. McCORMICK IS STILL IN LINEAddress of the Democratic Candidate for Governor of New York in Response to a Speech Notifying
Him of His Nomination.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 1.—In the presence of an audience consisting of Democrats representing many of the cities of the state, especially New York City and Albany county, and completely filling Old Fellows' hall, one of the largest in this vicinity, the candidates on the Democratic state ticket received formal notification of their nomination.

A special train brought a large delegation of New York City Democrats, together with the notification committee and members of the Democratic state committee. Judge E. Cady Herrick, nominee for governor, who today filed his resignation as a Justice of the supreme court of the state, and Francis Burton Harrison, the candidate for lieutenant governor, and Attorney General Cullen were present.

NO FAVORS FOR LAGGARDS
THIS YEAR.

In a letter to Chairman Spry of the Republican state committee W. S. McCORMICK says he is for the state, legislative and county tickets of that party. Mr. McCORMICK's announcement that he is still a Republican evidently caused great excitement at state headquarters. A special edition of one of the official organs was at once issued to carry the news of the government, instead of all being centralized in the hands of the executive.

Justice Herrick, in replying to the speech of notification, announced the policy he would pursue if elected governor. He would advocate a reform of the ballot laws of the state, endeavoring to bring about some measure of reform which, while protecting capital fairly, would secure to the wage earner his just demands, and try to bring about some reform in the excise law. His administration would aim to decrease the expenses of the state and remove the taxes upon deposits in the savings banks of the state.

GREAT BRITISH
STATESMAN DEADSir William Vernon Harcourt
Answers Sudden Summons.

LAST OF THE OLD LIBERALS

GRIEF EXPRESSED BY MEN OF ALL PARTIES.

London, Oct. 1.—Sir William Vernon Harcourt, "the finest political gladiator of his age," died very suddenly today at Nuneaton park, near Oxford, the country seat which he recently inherited from his nephew.

Only his wife, daughter of the late John Lubbock, the historian and former American minister to Great Britain, was with him. When Sir William went to bed last night he seemed fairly well, though he had been suffering from a slight chill. This morning when he was called he replied cheerily, "In a short time." Later a servant entered the room and found Sir William lying dead on his bed. His son, Lewis Vernon Harcourt, member of parliament for the Rossendale division of Lancashire, was hastily summoned from London.

Praise From Opponents.

Among all classes of the United Kingdom, regardless of party, the unexpected news caused a sensation and genuine regret. The somewhat pathetic announcement of the death of his intended retirement had prepared the public for Sir William's eventual disappearance from the active arena of politics, while the liberal cause had whispered that his stalwart constitution had been radically impaired by nearly forty years of fierce parliamentary strife.

Praise From Opponents.

The evening edition of the Standard, one of the deceased's opponents, appropriately and generously says: "With the late liberal leader there has passed away one of the last of those Titanic figures bound up with the most brilliant traditions of the house of commons. There are but a few left of those eminent statesmen who reared their political training at the hands of Gladstone and Disraeli. The coincidence of his death with the intended withdrawal of the distinguished statesman into a well earned repose after a career of hard work and political activity gives added pathos to the event."

RUSSIANS ARE READY TO FIGHTKuropatkin May Even Assume the Offensive.

OFFICIALS WITHHOLD NEWS

NOTHING CAN BE LEARNED FROM JAPANESE.

ADVANCES received by the Russian general staff last night are to the effect that a check has been put upon the advance of the Japanese to the eastward of Mukden and show that the movement is considered to be of little importance. Two reports of raids upon vessels carrying supplies for the Japanese have reached St. Petersburg. It is considered probable, however, that they refer to the same affair, though the exact date of the raid and the locality of the action are differently stated in the two dispatches. General Kuropatkin's friends still assert that he is to accept chief command of the Russian forces in Manchuria. Viceroy Alexieff will be received with much pomp upon his return to St. Petersburg, where he will be quartered in the winter palace and otherwise honored. His return to the far east as viceroy at the conclusion of the war is by many persons considered to be quite possible.

MORE OUTPOST AFFAIRS.

Japanese Advance Checked by the Russians.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 2, 1:35 a. m.—A dispatch from General Sakharoff received by the general staff late tonight brings the record of events up to Sept. 20. It shows that the Japanese advance on the eastern side in the region of Bentziaputze has been checked. This movement also appears to be an outpost affair, not accompanied by serious fighting, no advance of the Japanese force having occurred up to the date mentioned. The operations to the west of Mukden have extended twenty-six miles down the Hun river, where the Japanese were temporarily driven out from Tschanhan and seven supply boats were captured. It is possible that this raid is identical with that reported by the Associated Press from Mukden, although the latter it is stated to have occurred on the Liao river, which is a tributary of the Hun river. The Japanese are using the river to bring up supplies and that their operations are being opposed, they having not immediately advanced the far east. Tschanhan along the line of the Hun river.

The forthcoming changes in the national commands announced by the Associated Press have been the subject of widespread discussion. The necessity for the changes is generally admitted, but whether Emperor Nicholas will immediately effect the reorganization is uncertain. Meanwhile Vice Admiral Avelan requests that a formal denial of the news of his retirement from the ministry of marine be made public.

The numerous friends and supporters of General Kuropatkin declare that events justify their prediction that he will be able to take command of the army in the far east, and that the emperor has reconsidered his intention of sending out Grand Duke Nicholas to take command of the army in the far east. According to their version the first army will be placed under command of General Lubovitch, upon whom the emperor intends to bestow a mark of signal honor to prove that his return in no wise is in the least a disgrace. A resignation received with pomp befitting the rank of viceroy, which he will continue to hold during his term of absence here. It is considered quite possible that when the war is over Alexieff will return to the far east in his former capacity.

MIGHTY STRUGGLE AT HAND.

Kuropatkin May Attempt an Offensive Movement.

Mukden, Oct. 1.—(7 a. m.—By way of Khabarovsk, Eastern Siberia, Oct. 1.) The Russian general staff is emphasizing a new situation, clearly shows that the battle of Liao Yang was rightfully described as the end of the first stage of the conflict, making necessary the adoption of new tactics by the Japanese and rehabilitation in order to meet the proved fact that if the Russians are caught in a decisive combat, it must be on their own terms and terms, and with their full knowledge. It is therefore supposed that the Japanese are intending, but it is not broken into a dash at the Salt Lake in the fighting line preparing against famine, though such a state of affairs would necessarily be restricted on account of the abundance of the crops. The aspect of Mukden and its environs is now one of dust and desolation. The natives have fled and the two armies are in a state of warfare. The fighting line has been used for firewood.

COLLINS' HEARING SET.

The preliminary hearing of C. B. Collins, the showman charged by Phil Granger with a series of performances, is set for Oct. 5. Collins, claiming that he held a bill of sale for ladders and equipment belonging to John Mangels, a high diver, is alleged to have broken into a booth at the Salt Lake in order to get possession of the diving rigging. Green, according to Mangels, holds the only bill of sale to the property and is the lawful owner.

MANGELS' HEARING SET.

Mangels was formerly under the management of Collins, but is now with Green. He attributes Collins' claim to the fact that he was "get even" for the change. Collins is out on his own recognizance.
